PUBLISHERS' NOTICE.

In issuing a new edition of a music-book which has already had the very extraordinary sale of 400,000 copies, the publishers believe there can be no impropriety in styling it the most useful collection of Church Music ever published. Of the multitude of music-books issued, a large number never reach a sale of 1,000 copies, while a very small number, only, ever exceed 10,000 copies, in sale. But two or three other similar collections of Church Music, have ever reached a sale of 100,000 copies, and not one has exceeded 200,000. When, therefore, in connection with these facts, it is considered that so large a number of Carmina Sacra have been sold; when it is remembered that the sale has extended through so many years, and has continued, while a succession of new books have made claim for public favor, it will be seen that this work has the most emphatic approval possible.

Carmina Sacra was first published in 1841. No extraordinary means being used to bring it to notice, its sale was at first moderate. In use, it gave such satisfaction as no other book had given, and thus it rose from its own intrinsic merits. It was found, moreover, that the music it contained did not wear out with a few times singing. It not only pleased the taste, but won its way to the affections of singers and congregations. Years passed, each bringing its new books of Church Music, which, after a brief and limited circulation, passed away. Still, "Carmina" held on its way, until, in 1850, the extraordinary evidence of the merits of the work, evinced by its large sale, induced its proprietors to undertake a revision. Such of its contents as had proved least valuable were omitted, and their place supplied by pieces which had proved most popular in the author's other works. Thus improved, it was called the NEW CARMINA SACRA, and its sale received a fresh impulse.

Another evidence of the merits of this book is found in the fact that for many years scarcely a book of Church Music has been published without application being made to the proprietors for permission to use more or less of the tunes from Carmina Sacra. Moreover, the most popular books published within a few years have been those in which the right was secured to use some tunes from this work.

The amount of good which Carmina Sacra has accomplished in the Church Music of America, can not easily be estimated. In this book were first given to the public such tunes as Hebron, Boylston, Olmutz, Hamburg, Fountain, Badea, and others which are heard in almost every church in the land, and in the use of which the people are enabled to unite in the singing. It is not too much to say that "Carmina Sacra" has done more for Congregational Singing than any other instrumentality. The stranger from one extreme of the Union as, in his travels, he worships with a congregation at the other extreme, is enabled to unite with them in singing those tunes, from this book, which he had learned to love at home. The practically useful character of the contents of this book, and its consequent wide circulation, have thus been instrumental in producing the most important results.

It is fit that no pains should be spared to bring such a work to the highest state of perfection. In pursuit of this object, some further improvements have been made in the present edition. A number of tunes from recent works, which have been well tried and approved, are inserted. New Elements of Musical Notation, prepared by the editor, are also inserted, in order to adapt it more thoroughly to usefulness as a text-book for Singing-Schools.

The New Carmina Sacra, as it now stands, therefore, has been thoroughly tried and approved. It is not like a work first published, which can not hope to avoid including much chaff with the wheat. The whole has been well winnowed, and the place of the chaff, which was blown away is supplied by pure grain.

NEW YORK, September, 1855.

GUIDE TO MUSICAL NOTATION.

CHAPTER I.

GENERAL DIVISION—PROPERTIES OF TONES.

§ 1. MUSICAL sounds, or tones, have three essential properties, LENGTH, PITCH, and POWER. Hence, elementary musical instruction is naturally divided into three departments:

1. RHYTHMICS, treating of the length of tones.
2. MELODICS, treating of the pitch of tones.
3. DYNAMICS, treating of the power of tones.

CHAPTER II.

RHYTHMICS—MEASURES, COUNTING AND BEATING TIME, AND ACCENT.

§ 2. THE length of tones is measured by a division of time into equal portions, called MEASURES, and PARTS OF MEASURES.

§ 3. A measure having two parts is called DOUBLE MEASURE.
“ “ three “ “ TRIPLE MEASURE.
“ “ four “ “ QUADRUPLE MEASURE
“ “ six “ “ SEXTUPLE MEASURE.

§ 4. Measures, and parts of measures, are indicated or manifested—1st, to the ear, by counting; 2d, to the eye, by motions of the hands, called BEATS, or BEATING TIME.

§ 5. Double Measure is designated by the figure 2. It has two beats, downward and upward. Accented on the first part of the measure.

§ 6. Triple Measure is designated by the figure 3. It has three beats, downward, inward or hither, and upward. Accented on the first part of the measure.

§ 7. Quadruple Measure is designated by the figure 4. It has four beats, downward, inward or hither, outward or thither, and upward. Accented on the first and third parts of the measure.

§ 8. Sextuple Measure is designated by the figure 6. It has six beats, downward, downward, inward, outward, upward, upward. Accented on the first and fourth parts of the measure.

§ 9. One quadruple measure is equivalent to two double measures; and one sextuple measure is equivalent to two triple measures.

CHAPTER III.

NOTES AND RESTS.

§ 10. THE comparative length of tones is represented by the form of certain characters, called NOTES.

§ 11. There are five kinds of notes in common use; the length represented by them is indicated by their names, as follows: WHOLE (or whole note), HALF, QUARTER, EIGHTH, and SIXTEENTH.

NOTE. These notes are also often called by the following names—Semibreve, Minim, Crotchet, Quaver, and Semiquaver.

§ 12. In addition to the above, THIRTY-SECONDS and SIXTY-FOURTHS are sometimes used.

§ 13. A dot (.) adds one-half to the length represented by a note.

§ 14. Each note has its corresponding REST, indicating silence.

EXAMPLE OF NOTES AND RESTS.

Whole.	Half.	Quarter.	Eighth.	Sixteenth.

NOTE.—The teacher is advised first to introduce the quarter note as a standard, or representative of each part of a measure; he may then proceed to obtain the half and the whole, by the prolongation of the tone, or by the union of the parts of the measure, and afterwards to obtain also the eighth and the sixteenth by the more difficult process of dividing the parts of measures, by producing two or more tones to each.

§ 15. A part of a measure may be so divided, as to be occupied by three nes, and be represented by three notes. Such divisions are called TRIPLETS, and are usually indicated by the figure 3, over or under the notes.

NOTE.—Rhythmic exercises, designed to illustrate the subject of this chapter, should be introduced as they are needed. The following may be regarded as examples.

NOTE.—A most valuable classification of measure into primitive and derived forms, in the use of which the pupil may be made practically acquainted with all the relations of the length of tones, may be found in various elementary treatises by the author of this work, and especially in his last book, the HALLELUJAH. It is omitted here, but it is recommended to teachers to make themselves familiar with it. It was originally published by Kübler of Stuttgart, Wurtemberg.

CHAPTER IV.

VARIETIES OF MEASURE.

§ 16. Different notes may be used to represent the parts of measures in each kind of measure; and these different usages of notes are called VARIETIES OF MEASURE.

§ 17. As figures are used to designate the kinds of measure, so also figures are used to designate varieties of measure. The figures being written as in the representation of fractions, the kind of measure is designated by the numerator; and the variety of measure is designated by the denominator.

NOTE.—Varieties of measure merely furnish different signs for the same thing. To the ear they are the same, to the eye only do they differ; the movement or degree of quickness depending not in the least on the kind of notes, which represent no positive, but only a relative length.

EXAMPLES OF SOME OF THE MOST COMMON VARIETIES OF MEASURE.

CHAPTER V.

MELODICS—THE SCALE, ITS NAMES AND SIGNS.

NOTE.—Before any explanation of the scale is attempted, or definitions or signs are given, let the scale itself, or a part of it, be presented, by being sung slowly and distinctly by the teacher, beginning with the pitch C, to the syllable la. Let it be repeated until the class have obtained a clear idea of it, after which, and not before, they may be required to sing it. Careful attention should be given to quality of tone, which, with everything belonging to taste, should be cultivated from the beginning. When the scale has been thus taught, or when the pupils have become so familiar with it as to have some correct appreciation of it as a connected series of tones, and can also sing it with tolerable accuracy, names, definitions, and signs may follow.

§ 18. The Scale. Musical sounds or tones, when considered with respect to the relation of pitch existing between them, are arranged in a certain series called the SCALE; thus the scale is a succession of eight tones, in a certain order of relative pitch.

§ 19. Names of the Tones of the Scale. The tones of the scale are named from the names of numbers, beginning with the lowest, thus:

ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX, SEVEN, EIGHT.

§ 20. The Staff. The relative pitch of tones is represented by a character called the STAFF.

§ 21. Degrees of the Staff. Each line and each space of the staff is called a DEGREE; thus the staff contains nine degrees, counted upwards from the low est, there being five lines and four spaces.

12. PRACTICAL EXERCISES.

Life's a ship in con-stant mo-tion, Whe-ther high or low,
Ev-ery one must brave the o-cean, Though the winds may blow.

O well I love my na-tive land, Its fair and ver-dant hills, My na-tive land full well I love, Which peace and plen-ty fills.

§ 34. When tones lower than one are sung, one is to be regarded, also, as eight, of a lower scale.

14. PRACTICAL EXERCISES.

All the day I'm sing-ing live-ly, Though the day is long,
And from morn-ing dawn to eve-ning Sounds my hap-py song.

Dark and deep the wa-ters flow-ing, While our boat is swift-ly row-ing,
Now the boisterous winds are blowing, And on waves we high are soar-ing,
And the dis-tant thun-der roar-ing, Bids us quick-ly seek the shore;
Yet we safe-ly reach the moor-ing, And our cares and fears are o'er.

§ 35. The human voice is naturally divided into four classes: low male voices, or BASE, high male voices, or TENOR; low female voices, or ALTO, high female voices, or TREBLE.

§ 36. The following example exhibits the usual compass of the human voice, and also that of the different classes, as Base, Tenor, Alto, and Treble.

NOTE.—Besides the above, there are other distinctions, as BARYTONE, between the Base and Tenor, and MEZZO SOPRANO, between the Alto and Treble. The Treble is often called SOPRANO.

§ 37. The F clef is used for Base, the G clef is used for Tenor, Alto, and Treble, but when used for Tenor it denotes G an octave lower than when used for Treble or Alto.

NOTE.—This different use of the G clef for Tenor, and for Alto or Treble, should be clearly illustrated and explained.

PRACTICAL EXERCISE.—FOUR PART SONG.

Green the grass is spring-ing, While the birds are sing-ing, Each his mate to cheer;

CHAPTER VIII.

MELODICS—INTERVALS.

NOTE.—A true knowledge of intervals can only be communicated through the ear. Names, definitions, or illustrations, may be given while the pupil obtains no correct idea of the thing itself, which can only be acquired by a careful listening to tones and comparison of them. The ear alone can appreciate or measure intervals. The subject is one which cannot be understood until the ear has been considerably trained; this is the reason why it has not been presented earlier in this course. After intervals have been taught, the following definitions will be easily understood.

§ 38. The difference of pitch between any two tones is called an INTERVAL. Thus, the difference of pitch between one and two is an interval.

§ 39. In the regular succession of the tones of the scale, there are two kinds of intervals, large and small.

§ 40. The large scale-intervals are called STEPS; and the small scale-intervals are called HALF-STEPS.

§ 41. The intervals of the scale occur in the following order:—between one and two, a step; between two and three, a step; between three and four, a half-step; between four and five, a step; between five and six, a step; between six and seven, a step; and between seven and eight, a half-step.

NOTE.—The terms tone and half-tone are in common use to designate these intervals; but as the application of the same word both to sounds and intervals is inconvenient, the discontinuance of the term tone and half-tone is recommended, especially in teaching. As the word ladder (scale) is used for designating the series of tones called the scale, it is quite natural to carry out the figure, and borrow from the ladder the word step by which to designate scale-intervals.

CHAPTER IX.

THE MINOR SCALE.

§ 42. In addition to the scale already explained, there is another scale, differing from that in the relation or succession of its tones, or in the order of its intervals, called the MINOR SCALE; it is the soft scale of the Germans.

NOTE.—The scale which has already been explained, based on C, or of which C is one, may now be called the MAJOR SCALE.

§ 43. The natural Minor Scale is based upon A, or upon six of the Major Scale

NOTE.—The term natural is used here to indicate that the tones of which the scale is composed are the same as those belonging to the scale already explained.

EXAMPLE.

THE NATURAL MINOR SCALE REPRESENTED IN NOTES, WITH THE NAMES OF ITS TONES, THEIR PITCH, AND THE SYLLABLES APPLIED TO THEM IN SOLFAING.

Names.	One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight.	Eight, seven, six, five, four, three, two, one.
Pitch.	A, B, C, D, E, F, G, A.	A, G, F, E, D, C, B, A.
Syllables	La, si, do, re, mi, fa, sol, la.	La, sol, fa, mi, re, do, si, la.

NOTE.—The explanation here given refers to the natural Minor Scale only; the artificial Minor Scale will be explained hereafter.

CHAPTER X.

THE CHROMATIC SCALE.

§ 41. Intermediate Tones. Between those tones of the scale which form the interval of a step, an intermediate tone may be introduced: thus, intermediate tones may occur between one and two, two and three, four and five, five and six, and six and seven; but not between three and four, and seven and eight, because the intervals between these tones are already half-steps, and these are the smallest practicable intervals known in the musical system.

§ 45. Names of Intermediate Tones The intermediate tones are named from the scale-tones between which they occur, but with the addition of the word SHARP or FLAT prefixed or suffixed, to distinguish the name of the former from those of the latter. Thus, the intermediate tone between one and two, or between C and D, may be named from either of these; if named from one, the word sharp is prefixed, and it is called SHARP-ONE; if named from two, the word flat is prefixed, and it is called FLAT-TWO; again, if named from C, the word sharp is suffixed, and it is called C-SHARP; or if named from D, the word flat is suffixed, and it is called D-FLAT. The same principle is applied to the naming of all the other intermediate tones.

NOTE.—The word sharp is used as a name for a tone, and signifies higher; thus, by sharp-one is meant a tone which is higher than one, yet not so high as two; again, the word flat, when used as the name of a tone, signifies lower; thus, by flat-two is meant a tone which is lower than two, yet not so low as one.

§ 46. Representation of Intermediate Tones. An intermediate tone is represented by a note on the same degree of the staff as is the scale-tone from which it is named; thus, the tone named sharp-one is represented on the same degree of the staff as is the tone named one, but with a character prefixed to the same degree of the staff, called a SHARP (#). So also, the tone named flat-two is represented by a note on the same degree of the staff as is the tone named two, but with a character prefixed to the same degree of the staff, called a FLAT (b).

NOTE.—It will be observed that the words sharp and flat are used both as names of tones, and as names of characters, signs, or marks of notation.

§ 47. Chromatic Scale. A scale consisting of thirteen tones, including the eight scale-tones, and the five intermediate tones, having twelve intervals of a half-step each, is called the CHROMATIC SCALE.

§ 48. Diatonic Scale. The scale which was first described is called the DIATONIC SCALE. The minor scale is also diatonic.

EXAMPLE.

THE CHROMATIC SCALE REPRESENTED.

Names.	One,	sharp one,	two,	sharp two,	three,	four,	sharp four,	five,	sharp five,	six,	sharp six,	seven,	eight.
Pitch.	C,	C [#] ,	D,	D [#] ,	E,	F,	F [#] ,	G,	G [#] ,	A,	A [#] ,	B,	C.
Syllables.	Do,	di,	re,	ri,	mi,	fa,	fi,	sol,	si,	la,	li,	si,	do.

Descending.

Names.	One,	seven,	flat-seven,	six,	flat-six,	five,	flat-five,	four,	three,	flat-three,	two,	flat-two,	one.
Pitch.	C,	B,	B ^b ,	A,	A ^b ,	G,	G ^b ,	F,	E,	E ^b ,	D,	D ^b ,	C.
Syllables.	Do,	si,	se,	la,	le,	sol,	se,	mi,	me,	re,	re,	ra,	do.

NOTE.—The letter i should always receive the sound of ee in the above syllables; thus Di is pronounced Dee, Ri is pronounced Ree, etc. Again, the letter e should always receive the sound of the English long a, so that Se is pronounced Sa, Le is pronounced La, etc.

§ 49. The characters called sharps and flats continue their significance throughout the measure in which they occur, and also from measure to measure when the same tone is to be repeated, or until canceled by a note written upon some other degree of the staff.

NOTE.—The teacher should be careful to cause his pupils to understand that C $\sharp$ is not C raised or elevated, and that D $\flat$ is not D lowered or depressed, but that the tone C $\sharp$ or D $\flat$ (by whichever name it may be called) is an independent tone, being in pitch between C and D. It is not possible to elevate or to depress the pitch of a tone. Absolute pitch is, of course, unalterable. The error here pointed out is found in most treatises on music, see "Manual of the Boston Academy of Music," the previous editions of this work, and various other books. It is equally untrue, to say that a sharp raises or elevates, or lowers or depresses a note.

§ 50. Sharps and flats are canceled, or their significance is terminated by a sign called a NATURAL ($\natural$).

NOTE.—Practical exercises are omitted under this head, since it is generally preferable that an ability to sing chromatic passages should be acquired in connection with tunes, or melodies, in which they are found.

CHAPTER XI.

DIATONIC INTERVALS.

§ 51. In addition to the scale-intervals, or to the intervals belonging to the scale in its regular progression, called steps and half-steps, there are also other intervals occasioned by a departure from the regular scale order, or by skipping: as THIRDS, FOURTHS, FIFTHS, SIXTHS, SEVENTHS, and OCTAVES, and there may be MAJOR and MINOR, i. e., larger or smaller.

§ 52. Intervals are always reckoned from the lower tone upwards, unless otherwise expressed.

NOTE.—Tables, or descriptions of these intervals are omitted, as well as exercises in them, since they are better learned by a concrete than by an abstract practice.

CHAPTER XII.

THE MINOR SCALE, CONTINUED.

§ 53. In addition to the natural form of the Minor Scale, as already explained, there are also others, which, being altered from the natural, may be called artificial forms.

§ 54. The first in the present order, is that which differs from the natural form by the introduction of the tone sharp seven, and which is often called the Harmonic Minor Scale.

EXAMPLE.

§ 55. The second is that which differs from the natural form in ascending, by the introduction of sharp six and sharp seven, but in descending, returns to the natural form; it is often called the Melodic Minor Scale.

EXAMPLE.

NOTE.—Composers and theoretic writers present still other forms of the Minor scale, but which it can be of no practical importance to explain.

§ 56. The natural minor scale commences with A, or A is taken as its pitch, or as one; and as A is six in the major scale of C, it follows, that the minor scale is based upon six of the major scale.

NOTE.—The pupil should be reminded that the word natural, as here used, has reference only to the name of the pitch of the scale, and its representation to the eye.

§ 57. The minor scale based upon six of the major scale, is called its relative minor; and the major scale, based upon three of the minor scale, is called its relative major.

NOTE.—Practical exercises are omitted here, but will be found in connection with the transposition of the scale.

CHAPTER XIII.

TRANSPOSITION OF THE SCALE.

§ 58. When the scale is based on C, it is said to be in its natural position, or natural; but the pitch of the scale may be changed, and, when any other pitch than C is taken as one of the scale, it is said to be TRANSPOSED.

TRANSPOSITION OF THE SCALE BY FOURTHS.

§ 68. First transposition of the scale by fourths; from C to F. To preserve the identity of the scale, or the proper order of intervals between three and four, and between four and five, in this transposition, it is necessary to take B $\flat$ as four in the new key. B $\flat$ is, therefore, the signature to the key of F.

CHAPTER XVI.

APPOGGIATURA—TURN—SHAKE OR TRILL—PORTAMENTO.

§ 72. Passing Tones. Tones not essentially belonging to a melody are often introduced into music, called PASSING TONES. They are sometimes represented by notes of smaller size than those in which the music is written, though this distinction is not generally observed.

§ 73. Appoggiatura. When a passing tone precedes an essential tone on an accented part of a measure, it is called an APPOGIATURA.

§ 74. After Tone. When a passing tone follows an essential tone, on an unaccented part of a measure, it is called an AFTER TONE.

§ 75. The Shake or Trill. A rapid alternation of a tone with the conjoint tone above it, at an interval of either a step or a half-step, is called a SHAKE OR TRILL.

§ 76. The Turn. A tone sung in rapid succession with the conjoint tones above and below it, so as to produce a winding or turning melodic motion or movement, is called a TURN.

§ 77. Portamento. When the voice is instantaneously conducted by a concrete passage, or graceful and almost imperceptible glide, from one tone to another, so as to produce a momentary previous recognition or anticipation of the coming tone, such a carriage or transition of the voice, or such a blending or melting of one tone into another, is called PORTAMENTO.

NOTE 1.—The portamento should only occur between tones of comparatively long duration, and in connection with words or tones expressive of deep emotion. This beautiful grace, which, when properly introduced, gives an inexpressible charm to singing, is sometimes, nay often, most sadly misrepresented, caricatured, or counterfeited, and coarse slides, or vocal avalanches are heard in its place. Ferrari, in his "Singing Method," has applied the very significant term "harsh shrieks" to these frightful lurchings of the voice; but, by whatever name they may be called, they should be most watchfully and determinately eschewed.

NOTE 2.—The ornaments, graces, or embellishments of vocal music, some of which have been merely glanced at in this chapter, with the partial exception of passing tones, cannot be said to belong to ordinary singing, and certainly not to choir or chorus-singing. The turn, the shake, and the portamento, rather belong to that artistic style which can only be acquired by the few possessing naturally great flexibility of voice, accuracy of ear, quickness of musical perception, and habits of persevering application; nor should they be attempted, even by these, until they have been carefully studied for years under the direction of an accomplished teacher.

CHAPTER XVII.

DEGREES OF POWER.

§ 78. Mezzo. A musical sound of medium power or force is called Mezzo, (pronounced met-zo;) such a sound is indicated by the term mezzo, or by an abbreviation of it, as mez., or by its initial, m.

§ 79. Piano. A tone somewhat softer than mezzo, or a soft tone, is called Piano, (pee-äh-no,) and is indicated by the term piano, pia., or p.

§ 80. Forte. A tone somewhat louder than mezzo, or a loud tone, is called Forte, (for-te, or four-te,) and is indicated by the term forte, for., or f.

§ 81. Pianissimo. A tone softer than piano is called PIANISSIMO, (pee-äh-niss-i-mo,) and is indicated by pp.

§ 82. Fortissimo. A tone louder than forte is called FORTISSIMO, (fore-tiss-i-mo,) and is indicated by ff.

NOTE.—There are also modifications of the above-named degrees of power, as Mezzo-Forte, Mezzo-Piano.

CHAPTER XVIII.

FORM OF TONES.

§ 83. Organ Form. A tone commenced, continued, and ended with an equal degree of power, is called an ORGAN FORM, or an ORGAN TONE. It may be indicated by parallel lines, thus :

NOTE 1.—The Organ Form takes its name from the organ pipe, which can only produce a tone of one equal degree of power.

NOTE 2.—The Organ Form is not often used in vocal music, except in passages in which one part holds a steady tone for a considerable time, while the other parts sing various harmonies.

§ 84. Crescendo Form. A tone commencing piano, and gradually increasing to forte, is called CRESCENDO, (cre-schén-do.) It is indicated by cres., or by two divergent lines, thus : .

§ 85. Diminuendo Form. A tone commencing forte, and gradually diminishing to piano, is called DECRESCENDO or DIMINUENDO, (dé-cre-schen-do, or dim-in-oo-en-do.) It is intimated by deces., dim., or by two convergent lines, thus : .

§ 86. Swell. A union of the crescendo and the decrescendo produces the SWELL FORM: indicated by the union of the divergent and convergent lines, thus : .

NOTE 1.—The swell is sometimes called the Drawn Tone; the term Messa di voce, is also used to designate this tone form.

NOTE 2.—The acquisition of this form of tone is one of the most difficult things in the art of song. It constitutes the polish or finishing touch in artistic excellence. "It is the result," says Garcia, in his admirable "School of Singing," "of all other studies;" and again, "to draw the tones well is to be a good singer."

NOTE 3.—The application of Crescendo, and Diminuendo to phrases and sections, or to passages of several measures, is comparatively easy, and constitutes one of the greatest beauties of choir singing.

§ 87. Pressure Form. A very sudden crescendo or swell, is called the PRESSURE FORM. It is thus marked, < or <>.

NOTE.—This dynamic form is sometimes used to express ridicule, sarcasm, or irony. It belongs mostly to burlesque, to the ludicrous, or to the comic in singing.

§ 88. Sforzando. A tone which is produced very suddenly and forcibly, and instantly diminished, is called an EXPLOSIVE TONE, or SFORZANDO, or FORZANDO, (sfört-zán-do, or fört-zán-do.) It is designated thus >, or by sf, or fz.

NOTE 1.—This tone-form is of great importance both to the speaker and to the singer. The energetic style of singing, as in many of Handel's choruses, for example, is much dependent upon it; indeed some degree of it is always needed in the very first utterance of the voice, for without it the tone will be destitute of life and expression. Its power is distinctly felt in the manner in which good performers on stringed or wind instruments produce their tones, or in the very first utterance of a tone, or in the manner in which the attack is made upon it. Much of the dullness, heaviness, stupidity, and lifelessness so prevalent in vocal music, and especially in choir-singing, is to be attributed to the absence of this dynamic form of delivery. It is by no means intended that every tone should be given Sforzando; far indeed from this, but the element of Sforzando is to tones the life-giving power. It is, however, very liable to be overdone, and even caricatured; it requires, therefore, much discretion in its application, for, unless it be directed by good taste, it will be likely to degenerate into a mere lungeing or jerking of the voice, grunt-like, coarse, and disagreeable.

NOTE 2.—The mark indicating the pressure form of tone is often printed instead of that which indicates the Forzando. The observance of the mark as thus erroneously applied would, in many cases, be quite ludicrous. The mark is often applied in this form, .

CHAPTER XIX.

EMISSION OF TONE, PURITY OF TONE, WORDS, ETC.

NOTE.—If there is anything of elementary importance in teaching singing-classes, it is that of vocal utterance, or the emission of the voice. This should engage the most careful attention of the teacher from the very first attempts of the pupil to produce musical sounds. A good delivery of the voice, and also purity of tone, should be sought for in the very first lessons, and they should be kept constantly in view during the whole course of instruction.

§ 89. Emission of Tone. Vocal utterance, or the emission of tone, should be instantaneous, decided, and firm; without drawling, hesitancy, unsteadiness, and the like. The tone should be produced by a very distinct movement or motion of the glottis, which, being shut, is suddenly opened for the emission of the sound, as by a "vigorous shock." This motion, or "shock of the glottis," has been compared to the action of the lips energetically pronouncing the letter p, or to the action in the vault of the palate in articulating the hard c, as in come, or k, as in kind. The tone thus produced strikes the ear at the precise point of time, as by percussion. Like a spark from a living coal, it has life and power, and makes itself felt. Garcia, in his singing-school, says, "I recommend the shock of the glottis as the only means of obtaining sounds purely and without bungling;" and again he says, "the master must insist on the tones being attained by the shock of the glottis."

NOTE 1.—Any one who gives attention to the production of tones by a good instrumentalist, or to the manner in which they strike the ear when the attack is made upon them, or when they are first brought forth by a skilful player, cannot fail to observe their great superiority in promptness and energy of delivery to those usually heard in singing. The contrast between the delivery of instrumental and vocal tones in a performance of choral music with orchestral accompaniment is very great; while the instrumental tones will be given with decision, pith, and character, the voice will be tardily drawn out, heavy, dull, and lifeless. Indeed, choir or chorus-singing can hardly be heard without revealing the fact that whatever proficiency may have been made in reading music, so far as it relates to time and tune, the proper use of the vocal organs in the enunciation or emission of tone has been sadly neglected.

NOTE 2.—Caution. In the attempt to acquire the true delivery of the voice, there is danger that one may go too far, and substitute a shock of the lungs, or of the chest, or of the whole vocal region for one of the glottis merely. This may result in a violent outbreak, rough and boisterous, calling forth the remark, "he sings by main force." It hardly need be said that this extreme should be avoided. There is a proper medium for the utterance of tones, between a careless, indolent, drawing manner on the one hand, and a terrible vocal eruption on the other.

NOTE 3.—Let it not be supposed that an accurate idea of the production of vocal tones can be communicated by any attempt at description; the true idea can only be imparted by illustration, or by living example. No one who cannot himself produce a tone in a proper manner, can teach a pupil to do so, for by pattern, or by example, the work must be done. As it is of little use for a man to preach religion who is not himself a virtuous or good man, so the work of a teacher of vocal music, who, in addition to good definitions or descriptions, does not also give good vocal examples, cannot be of much value.

§ 90. Purity of Tone. A tone is pure when it is full, round, sonorous, and resonant, and when no extraneous sound is mixed with it; it is impure when it is stifled or muffled, when it is guttural or nasal, or when it partakes of an aspirated, husky, or hissing quality.

NOTE.—"The purest tone is obtained, first, by flattening the whole length of the tongue; second, by partially raising the veil of the palate; third, by separating the pillars at their base."—GARCIA.

NOTE.—The complaint is often made that the words cannot be heard, or are not carefully spoken in singing; but it cannot be expected that one who delivers the voice (tones) in a careless, indifferent, lifeless manner, should articulate or pronounce words in any other way, whereas, if the habit of a careful utterance or emission of tones has been formed, it is almost sure that there will be a corresponding attention to words. A proper production of tones is a pre-requisite to a good enunciation of words.

§ 91. Vowel or Tonic Elements. It is upon the tonic sounds (vowels), only, that the voice should dwell in singing. They should be formed with accuracy, and carefully prolonged, without change. To insure this, the same position of the vocal organs should be preserved during the whole continuance of a tone, no change or motion of the throat, mouth, or tongue, nor indeed of the head or body, should be permitted.

NOTE.—It is a very common fault for singers to pass from the tonic element, and to allow the voice to dwell upon a subordinate sound; as the vanish of a compound tonic element, or some succeeding or final consonant sound admitting of prolongation. Thus, for example, the word arm, is often erroneously sung ä---r---m, or ä---r---in, instead of ä---rm; the word great, is sung grä---e---t, or gräe---t, instead of grä---t; the word charge, is sung chä---r---ge, or chär---ge, instead of chä---rge; the word fear, is sung fë---ar, or fë---ar---, instead of fë---ar. It would be easy to multiply examples, but these must suffice.

§ 92. The most important vocal element to the singer is that which is heard in the word ah, as in arm, harm, charge, calm, etc., and which is represented by the letter a with two dots over it, thus, ä. This is the richest, most open, broad, and euphonious sound that can be found in any language, or that can be produced by the human voice. It is also the most natural sound, for, while all other sounds require some preparation or modification of the vocal organs, this is produced by merely dropping the under jaw, so as to open the mouth in the most easy and natural way. It is of great importance that the pupil should acquire the true sound of this element, since it prepares the way for all the others.

NOTE.—This is not the place to attempt a full description of the elements of the language; a teacher of vocal music must be supposed to be familiar with these. It may be well, however, to say, that the tonic element heard in the word Doo (Doo), will be found very useful, especially for softening and smoothing the voice.

§ 93. Consonants. These should be delivered quickly, smartly, distinctly, and with the greatest precision. Yet, since they do not sing, they should be given with no more force than is necessary clearly to identify the word spoken. The neglect of a careful utterance of the consonants, is a principal cause of indistinctness in the articulation of words.

§ 94. Accent, Emphasis, and Pause. The laws to which accent, emphasis, and pause are subject in reading, should also be observed, generally, in singing; but if poetry is to receive a musical expression, it must be, to some extent, subjected to the laws of music; yet the laws of music must not be permitted to conflict with those of elocution, but such a liberal interpretation of both must be allowed as will enable the singer most happily and effectively to unite the two—speech and song.

§ 95. Finally, in all vocal performances close attention should be given to both words and music. The singer should grasp the spirit of both, and make them his own; he should make an entire surrender of himself to his work, throw in his whole soul into the performance, and produce a living song, which shall draw out his own heart, and the hearts of those who hear; so shall he produce the effect for which music is designed, and for which it is so admirably adapted.

The pleasant spring has come again,
The ploughman's songs arise,
While woodland echoes mock, and then
The thrilling cadence dies;
The merry birds are singing,
Afar the music floats,
And every vale is ringing
With soft and mellow notes.

The pleasant spring has come again,
Its voice is in the trees,
It spreads from every sunny glen,
It rides upon the breeze!
The lovely flowers are springing,
The gushing founts are free,
The merry birds are singing—
Let all rejoice with me.

With Solemnity.

1. Hark from the tombs a dole - ful sound: My ears at - tend the cry. "Ye liv - ing men, come view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

3. Great God! is this our cer - tain doom? And are we still se - cure? Still walking downwards to the tomb, And yet prepare no more.

4. Grant us the power of quick'ning grace To fit our souls to fly; Then, when we drop this dy - ing flesh, We'll rise a - bove the sky.

HYMN. "There is an hour of peaceful rest."

Words by WM. B. TAPPAN.
Music arranged from J. A. NAUMANN.

Slow and Soft.

1. There is an hour of peaceful rest, To mourning wanderers given: There is a joy for souls distressed, A balm for eve-ry wounded breast, 'Tis found a-lone in heaven.

2. There is a home for wea-ry souls, By sin and sor-row driven; When toss'd on life's tempestuous shoals, Where storms arise, and ocean rolls, And all is dear—'tis heaven.

p Cres. p m p Dim.

3. There faith lifts up her cheerful eye, The heart no longer riven; And views the tempest passing by, The evening shadows quickly fly, And all se-re-ne in heaven.

4. There fragrant flow'rs, immortal bloom, And joys supreme are given; There rays divine disperse the gloom; Beyond the dark and nar-row tomb Ap-pears the dawn of heaven.

Will he not his help af - ford? Help, while yet I ask, is given; God comes down: the God and Lord That made both earth and heaven.

Moderato.

The 2d, 3d & 4th stanzas of this hymn, by H. G. O. Dwight, Missionary, at Constantinople.

1. No war nor battle's sound Was heard the earth around, No hos-tile chiefs to fu-rious com-bat ran. But peaceful was the night, which the Prince of light,
 2. No con-quer-er's sword he bore, Nor war-like armor wore, Nor haughty passions rous'd to con-test wild. In peace and love he came, And gen-tle was the reign,
 3. Un-will-ing kings obeyed, And sheath'd the battle blade, And call'd their bloody le-gions from the field. In si-lent awe they wait, And close the warrior's gate,
 4. The peaceful conqueror goes, And triumphs o'er his foes, His weapons drawn from ar-mo-ries a - bove. Behold the vanquish'd sit, Sub-mis-sive at his feet,

Smiles | does nature bear
To God !
She glows with his praises.
Glory raises:
In his bright abode
All is fair.

Mid the spheres
Praise | through circling years
Is sung,

King of nature:
O praise him my tongue
Endless years.

In some parts of Germany the Lord's Prayer is chanted by the Lutheran Priests at the altar, to music moving (as do the lamentations of the Catholic Church) only by a few small and easy intervals, almost always within the range of one to four of the scale, and producing a peculiarly devout, child-like and suppliant expression. The music here set to the same words, is in the spirit and style of the German, and from the words "For thine is the kingdom" to the end it is almost exactly the same as was heard under the circumstances above mentioned.

HYMN. "Hail to the brightness." (11s & 10s metre.)

1. Hail to the brightness of Zion's glad morning! Joy to the lands that in darkness have lain; Hush'd be the accents of sorrow and mourning, Zi-on triumphant be-gins her mild reign.
2. Hail to the brightness of Zion's glad morning; Long by the prophets of Is-ra-el fore-told: Hail to the millions from bondage re-turn-ing, Gentiles and Jews now the Saviour behold.
3. Lo, in the des-ert, rich flowers are springing, Streams ev-er copious are glid-ing a - long; Loud from the mountains the echoes are ringing, Vallies in verdure u-nite in the song.
4. See from the nations, the isles of the o-cean, Praise to Je-ho-vah as-cend-ing on high; Fall'n are the engines of war and com-mo-tion, Shouts of sal-va-tion are rending the sky

The time of this Anthem has frequently been taken much too slow. There should be three rather quick countings or beatings in a measure. The beats should be about as quick as in the tune Howard, or St. Martin's when these tunes are sung in a spirited and lively manner. The first eight measures should be sung in 15 seconds.

When the Lord shall bring, shall bring a-gain Zi-on.

HYMN.

There is a fountain filled with blood.

2d ending.

Not too fast.

There is a fountain, the endng.

1. There is a fountain, filled with blood Drawn from Immanuel's veins; And sinners, plunged beneath that flood, Lose all their guilty stains, Lose all their guilty stains.

2. The dying thief rejoiced to see That fountain, in his day; And there may I, though vile as he, Wash all my sins away, Wash all my sins away.

3. Thou dying Lamb! thy precious blood Shall never lose its power, Till all the ransomed church of God Are saved, and sin no more, Are saved, and sin no more.

4. Since first, by faith, I saw the stream Thy flowing wounds supply, Redeeming love has been my theme, And shall be, till I die, And shall be, till I die.

5. And when this feeble, stammering tongue Lies silent in the grave, Then, in a nobler, sweeter song, I'll sing thy power to save, [OMIT.] I'll sing thy power to save

The dash (—) shows that the word is to be prolonged, throughout the measure.
